CONCEPT NOTE

Greetings,

The JLU Centre for Constitutional Law and Human Rights at Jagran Lakecity University, Bhopal, is hosting the National Article Writing Competition 2023 on the theme "Diverse Horizons: Exploring Constitutional Values in Contemporary India." This competition invites students pursuing 3 or 5-year law courses to engage deeply with pressing contemporary constitutional issues in India involving the Manipur violence, the water controversy of Tamil Nadu and Karnataka, Rights of the LGBTQI+ community, freedom of Election Commission, etc. Moreover, it seeks to address complex challenges in areas like religious freedoms, women's rights, reservations, privacy, legislative powers, and more.

The competition's rationale is rooted in the need for in-depth analysis and reflection on these contemporary constitutional dilemmas, emphasizing the importance of nuanced approaches to constitutional principles. It aims to foster critical and creative thinking and the promotion of rigorous legal scholarship. This competition serves as a call to action for legal scholars and thinkers to adapt constitutional values to the ever-changing Indian landscape, contributing to the evolution of Indian constitutional law.

Participants are invited to be part of this intellectual journey, exploring the diverse horizons of constitutional values in contemporary India and shaping the legal framework for the present and the future.
